 Some Good Recipes

BY MARION HARLAND.

 CHOP SUEY.

Clean a small chicken and cut all the meat from the bones, cut it into strips ne and one-half inch long and one-half inch wide. Slice a large onion, soak a handful of mushrooms for ten minutes in water and remove the stems. Cut a stalk of celery into small pieces; wash and slice six Chinese potatoes. In the frying pan put some fat and fry the chicken lightly in this, but do not let it get hard. Add the sliced onion and cook for five minutes; then the mushrooms with enough Chinese sauce to make the ingredients brown. Pour in enough water almost to cover and simmer for twenty minutes. Put in the celery and potatoes and stew for fifteen minutes more. Thicken with flour and water, and, when the gravy is thick and smooth, serve with boiled rice, seasoning well if the sauce has not given flavor enough.

STEAMED SNOWBALLS. One egg, three tablespoonfuls of sugar, two tablespoonfuls of butter, four tablespoonfuls of water, one cup of flour, two teaspoonfuls of baking powder, one teaspoonful of vanilla. Mix well, turn into cups and steam for forty

SAUCE FOR SNOWBALLS.

Rub together a tablespoonful of sugar and a cup of powdered sugar, setting the dish containing them in one of hot water and stirring until the contents are melted and smooth. Add an egg and beat long and hard, then pour in half a teaspoonful of vanilla and beat again until well blended. Keep warm, but do not allow to boil until needed.

CARROT PRESERVES.

Peel the carrots and cut them lengthwise in narrow strips. Cover with water and boil until tender, then drain. Measure the carrots and make a syrup of one-third as much sugar as you have carrots, one-half cup of vinegar, one teaspoonful each of cinnamon and ginger, one-half teaspoonful of mustard, onehalf teaspoonful of cloves (this amount is for one gallon of carrots). When the syrup has boiled for several minutes lay in the carrots and boil until the syrup is quite thick; then can and seal.

RICE AND TOMATO SAUCE.

-ave three quarts of water at a hard boil; throw into it slowly one-half cup of rice. In twenty minutes pour the rice into a colander, dash cold water over it and stand it in the oven. Heat a pint of tomate soup and when the rice has drained for a few minutes turn it into a dish, salt it to taste, dot with butter and pour over it the hot and seasoned soup.

Favorite Old Poems of Famous Poets

Kubla Khan

BY SAMUEL TAYLOR COLERIDGE. Born 1772.

NO. XCIX.

A sunpy pleasure dome with caves of

In Xanadu did Kubla Khan A stately pleasure dome decree, Where Alph, the sacred river, ran Through caverns measureless to man

Down to a sunless sea. So twice five miles of fertile ground With walls and towers were girdled round;

And there were gardens bright with sinuous rills.

Where blossomed many an incensebearing tree; And here were forests ancient as the hills. Enfolding sunny spots of greenery. The shadow of the dome of pleasure

Where was heard the mingled measure From the fountain and the caves. It was a miracle of rare device.

Floated midway on the waves,

SUNDAY-BREAKFAST.

Apple sauce Shredded wheat with cream Fricasseed eggs Crisped bacon DINNER.

Almond soup Mashed potatoes Creamed cauliflower Tomato and sweet pepper salad Banana custard SUPPER.

Sliced cold meat Potato cakes Chili sauce To Quince preserves

MONDAY-BREAKFAST. Stewed prunes Shredded wheat with cream Ham omelet Coffee.

LUNCHEON. Kidney stew Pickles Mashed potatoes Rice cakes with syrup Tea. DINNER.

Potato soup Lyonnaise potatoes Sweet peppers Peas Lettuce with French dressing Porcupine pudding

THE MENU RECIPES.

Wash a quarter pound of rice very well, put it in a saucepan with two pints of milk, allow to simmer slowly for one and a half hours, add one teaspoonful of sugar, and one saltspoonful of salt. Blanch a quarter of a pound of almords; chop them up and pound them, add one pint of milk, mixing well, and strain. Put this into the rice, to warm, but do not boil. Serve hot in a soup tureen. This is a very nutritious soup.

Porcupine Pudding.

Boil rice and put in a mold to shape it. When cold turn out and stick full of almonds. Turn a soft custard over it when ready to serve.

It was an Abyssinian maid, And on her dulcimer she played, Serviceable chamois gloves, one-but-Singing of Mount Abora. on style, with welted back and out Could I revive within me side seams, are offered at reasonable Her symphony and song prices at L. S. Plaut & Co.'s. To such deep delight 'twould win me Died 1834.

A damsel with a dulcimer In a vision once I saw;

And all should cry, "Beware! Beware! His flashing eyes, his floating hair!

Weave a circle round him thrice,

And close your eyes with holy dread, For he on honeydew hath fed

And drunk the milk of Paradise."

The home dressmaker will appreciate That with music loud and long one of those little sewing rockers of would build that dome in airmaple, with cane seat, to be found That sunny dome! those caves of ice at Hahne & Co.'s. And all who heard should see them

> Filet lace net with heraldic designs for sash and inside curtains, forty-five inches wide, is shown in ecru and white at L. Bamberger & Co.'s.

A pair of white ruffled bedroom cur-

AUNTMATTYSMENU Long Seal Coats Are Popular

OMFORTABLE and beautiful are the long fur coats so much in evidence this season. Above is sketched an exquisite model of seal musquash, with handsome roll collar and cuffs of skunk, and a big skunk muff to match. Large silk buttons adorn the false hip pockets that serve to break the long, straight side line. The lining is pale gray satin. The toque is of seal der Company's.

Huge brooches of carved jet, for wear with the popular low collars, are displayed at the Goerke Company's.

A box of serviceable tourist ruching

It is wise to keep a supply of these paper cornucopias on hand for those who travel and for the shopper when

Heart

Correspondents are requested not to send stamps for personal replies. Miss Doon's mail is too heavy to permit her to write private letters.

Letters written on both sides of paper will not be considered. *****************

Love at Seventeen.

Dear Miss Doon: Touch
I am 17 and an orphan. I love a night. young man, who is a neighbor, and I think my love is returned. Do you Her Fingernails. think my lave is returned. Do you think I am too young to keep company? My home is not nice, and his parents think a great deal of me. He is 18, but very sensible. WAITING.

Why not keep the friendship of this young man until you are old enough the when I do not bite them, and make to know your own mind? I think you are too young to bother your head about love. Be a little girl as long as you can. Remember that a boy of 18 really thinks than a girl of 15.

White Stockings in Winter Time

Long white woolen stockings are worn. Some mothers permit their children to wear white socks, but I consider that a criminal offense.

Taffy on a Stick.

Dear Margery Doon:

I am a regular reader of your page.
Will you please tell me how to make candy apples on sticks? I want to serve them at a Hallowe'en party.
Thanking you, MRS. B. H. Wipe small apples carefully and run I ought to have gray hair.

a thin skewer through each. Make syrup. Lay on waxed paper to dry, with a border of ermine and a silver buckie.

On $12.50 a Week.

Dear Miss Doon:

Please let me know if two can get along on $12.50 a week if the man has a steady job. I am going with a young lady and hope to marry her in a year or so. She said that she thought we be purchased cheaply at the W. V. Snyder Company's.

Dear Miss Doon:

To restore the natural color of the along on $12.50 a week if the man has a steady job. I am going with a young lady and hope to marry her in a year or so. She said that she thought we could. Please answer as soon as posticular spreadonts, 1/2 ounce; essence of bergamot, 1/2 ounce; sleohol, 1/2 gill; glycerine, 1 ounce; tincture of canthavides, 1/2

Pimples are not cured by outsi plications, though they may be banished for a time. As a general thing they proceed from some stomach disorder, or from a lack of care in the diet or bath. Drink a great deal of cold water be tween meals, and cat only plain, substantial foods, avoiding sweets and rich pastries. Also, exercise as much as possible in the open air. A good cream is formed of elder flower ointment, one ounce; sulphate of .zinc, 20 Touch each pimple lightly with this at

To harden the finger nails, drink a has no more idea about what he day. This will make them firm, so that they will not break off. Just exercise your will power and do not bite your nails; it is an ugly habit, and Dear Margery Doon:

Kindly tell me if it is the style for children to wear white stockings in the winter time, and oblige.

ANXIOUS.

Which can be overcome by strong determination. Moisten them daily with bitter aloes. The disagreable taste will help you to break the habit.

Dear Miss Doon Will you please give me some simple remedy to darken my hair? It is fad-ing, and three years ago it was nearly jet black. I have been troubled with nervous headaches and have been worried so much that I think it has affected my hair. It is turning gray on top, and the rest seems to be fading to an ugly color. I am only 29 years old, and I don't think

No doubt nervous headaches and wora syrup of a pound of sugar and a riment have caused your hair to turn small teacupful of water, and, when a gray, and you must stop them and little hardens when dropped into iced the worrying before you can ever hope water, add a tablespoonful of lemon to have the natural color of your hair juice and dip the apples into the return. I am sending you, however, a recipe for something which will restore the natural color, which I entreat you to use while you are trying to cure

To restore the natural color of the Supply the youngsters going to school with folded paper cornucopias, which come in scaled packages for a small sum. These are used for drinking cups instead of those found in public places.

It is wise to keep a supply of these is no reason why you should not get along. Between now and the time of your wedding you must both save as much as possible, so as to have a little nest-egg for a possible rainy day. hair with a small brush-a tooth brush may be purchased at the David Straus store for about half its regular price.

Tach the children to make these useful little drinking cups from clean white paper, and there will be no dancrochet lace, made over silk foundations and prettily finished, are shown in the city for a day.

Teach the children to make these useful little drinking cups from clean white paper, and there will be no dancrochet lace, made over silk foundations and prettily finished, are shown in graph of the shopper when in the city for a day.

Teach the children to make these useful little drinking cups from clean white paper, and there will be no dandaye in the city for a day.

Teach the children to make these useful little drinking cups from clean white paper, and there will be no dandaye in the city for a day.

Teach the children to make these useful little drinking cups from clean white paper, and there will be no dandaye in the city for a day.

Teach the children to make these useful little drinking cups from clean white paper, and there will be no dandaye in the city for a day.

Teach the children to make these useful little drinking cups from clean white paper, and there will be no dandaye in the city for a day.

Teach the children to make these useful little drinking cups from clean white paper, and there will be no dandaye in the city for a day.

Teach the children to make these useful little drinking cups from clean white paper, and there will be no dandaye in the city for a day.

The condition of the shopper when in the city for a day.

The condition of the shopper when in the city for a day.

The condition of the shopper when in the city for a day.

The condition of the shopper when in the city for a day.

The condition of the shopper when in the city for a day.

The condition of the shopper when in the city for a day.

The condition of the shopper when in the city for a day.

The condition of the shopper when in the city for a day.

The condition of the city for a day.

The condition of the shopper when in the city for a day. will answer for the purpose. Then, tresses with an ordinary hair brush. 19

The NEWARK PUZZLER

d Organ of the Newark Pupple Club.

EDITED BY ABEL EM 104040404

THE WEEKLY CONTEST.

week for a selected complete ranks. 10. (Scot.) Eyes. 11. The letter R.

341. Standard Dictionary is used for 2,978. shown by (*), and words out of dictionary order by (1).

Address replies to "Puzzle Editor, the STAR," and have same reach this office within ten days. Answers will of connected cords and hurled so as to appear in two weeks.

ANSWERS TO NO. 339. 963-BY AFTER ALL M A S S A R A S H T R E S H R I N E S T I G A N NATENTO 2,964-BY TRYON. AMARANTHINE 2.965-BY UUSEER.

2,966-BY PARK. BURNISHERS 2.967-BY DONATELLO. 2.968-BY CINDER ELLA.

H
COR
TABER
ANGSUE
PIOUSLY
EBBLES
SALTS
LIS

NEW PUZZLES NO. 341.

2,975. ANAGRAM. SITT DOWNE.

2.976. DECAPITATIONS. The TWO of the oven Turns ONE dough into bread; We slice it and THREE it

To the very last shred. PARK.

DIAMOND. letter W. 2. (Prov. Eng.) 3, (Afr.) The red monkey rcopithecus ruber) of West Africa. (Law.) Grants of privileges, fran-ises, etc., made by sovereign au-tority. 5. (Sferra Leone) A climbing rub (Tetracera ainifolia) of the dil-pled family (Dilleniaceae), common ind family (Dilleniaceae), common It has been a long time since we western tropical Africa. 6. One who heard from DELIAN.

carries water (*). 7. Those who ban-PRIZE of $1 will be awarded this (Phillips). 9. To press together, as in

DIAMOND.

1. The letter E. 2. A Tibetan ante-lope, the chiru. 3. (Sp.) A missile weapon, consisting of two or more balls M of stone or metal fastened to the ends hopple or entangle cattle and large game: Used by the Gauchos and Indians of South America. 4. (Arch.) A die. 5. (Conch.) A family of gymnoglos. sate gastropods having a polished white turreted shell with a regular nucleus and a thick columellar lip. 6. A flat-iron, especially a hollow one heated from within. 7. Visible perspiration. 8. A rational animal of the genus Homo 9. The letter E. REVLOS.

A champion strong, of powers great;
HE'S CRUEL, thus to abdicate.
DELIAN. MUTATION.

SQUARE. 1. Produces out of nothing. 2. A ring or shoulder on the trunnion of a cannon or mortar, 3. To supply with money (Obs.). 4. One who or that which abuts. 5. A variety of long covered carriage (Obs. 5). 6. Those of an ascette party or sect of the Jews, formed shortly before the Christian era and existing till the fall of Jerusalem. female seer ($). SENAX.

NOTES AND COMMENT.

The prize of $1 offered for a selected complete list of solutions to New Puzzles No. 339 was awarded to R. O. CHESTER, Pittsburg, Pa.

REX receives our thanks for the souvenir post-cards of the Pittsburg-Detroit baseball series. We hope he is not disappointed today in the result of possible factor in subsequent events. the final game.

The Odd Club will hold a meeting on October 24 at the home of AMUSER. Natrona, Pa.

ALEC SANDER pronounces the dou- a handkerchief, gagged Mr. Anisty. ble diamond, No. 2,968, to be very good.

shown in PRIMROSE'S Mystic Argosy for the August solving tourney.

PARK is informed that we would be very glad indeed to receive the dia-mond he mentions. The bin is running

By LOUIS JOSEPH VANCE

Maitland, a very wealthy young man of more or less irresponsible habits, is engaged in prosecuting a band of "high finance" plunderers, among whom is one Graeme. Maitland's law advisor, Bannerman, pleads for Graeme on the ground that he is innocent. Maitland will grant ground that he is innocent. Matitand will grant no mercy.

Copyright 1907, by The Bobbs-Merrill Company. All Rights Reserved.

At the advice of Bannerman Matitand starts for his country home, to obtain his family jewels, at the time reposing in a safe there, and to bring them the next day to New York. He notices a high power machine, occupied only by a woman, crossing the ferry, and is struck by a resemblance between her and a woman whom he had seen alore near his home that afternoon. Matitand misses his train and reaches Greenfields at midnight, with five miles to walk.

He starts, but when about a third of the way is past he discovers the large motor car, its diver on the seat, in the bed of a small stream. Matitand volunteers to carry the lady to shore, and is astounded to find an apparently slim girl very heavy. He then extricates her auto and asks for a lift. She pretends to have lost her glove, and as he searches for it she speeds away, crying "Handsome Dan."

Matitand arrives home and, discovering burglars at work, switches on the light. The burglar turns out to be the same young woman he had rescued from the stream. She addresses him as "Anisty," a noted burglar, and Maltiand arrives home sind as "Anisty," a noted burglar, and Maltiand assumes she has mistaken him for the thief.

Maitland, by this time madly in love with the girl decides to at out the role of Anisty, Africa thief.

Maitland, by this time madly in love with the girl, decides to act out the role of Anisty. After forcing the girl to reveal her face, "Anisty," by the light of the girl's bull's-eye lantern, starts to unlock his own safe.

(Continued From Yesterday.)

She followed his gaze to the windows, consequences. interpreted his wishes, and was very over on his side, bringing his neck and You, Mister Maitland, sir!" in juxtaposition to the legs of that substantial piece of furniture, the the butler blandly,

His hands the first to be secured, and tightly, behind his back, Anisty lay helpless, glaring vindictively the while gradually he recovered consciousness and strength. Maitland cared little for his evil glances; he was busy. burglar's ankles were next bound together and to the lounge leg; and, an instant later, a brace of half-hitches about the man's neck and the nearest "Those loops around your throat,"

Glad to hear from DUKE OF which Maitland frowned, smitte GLOUCESTER again. Send in a few thoughtful with a new consideration. 'You mustn't talk, you know,"

Maitland warned him curtly, "are loose enough now, but if you struggle they'll mused half aloud; and, whipping forth After which, breathing hard and in maze of perplexity, he got to his feet. anythin', do you think, sir?" not the girl's hurried whisper, "The servants!" to warn him of their dan-From the rear wing of the mansounds of hurrying feet were distinctly audible, as, presently, were the heavy, excited voices of men and the more shrill and frightened cries of women.

Heedless of her displeasure, Maitland be sent for. Now go! Higgins, you seized the girl by the arm and urged may stay." her over to the open window. "Don't hang back!" he told her, nervously. 'You must get out of this before they see you. Do as I tell you, please, and we'll save ourselves yet! If we both man is Anisty—Handsome Dan Anisty, her hand. make a run for it, we're lost. Don't you understand?" "No. Why?" she demanded, re-derstand? . . I'm going now to inctant, spirited, obstinate—and lovely motor to the village and get the conin his eyes.

indicated, with a jerk of his head toward the burglar. "But didn't you toward the burglar. see? He must be Maitland-and he's my double. I'll stay, brazen it out, then, as soon as possible, make my remove that gag!" escape and join you by the gate. Your motor's there-what? Be ready fee mind wot you says-

But she had grasped his intention and was suddenly become pliant to his know my way. And-that-man-till I return." with a little low laugh; and was gone, silently as a spirit.

The curtains fell behind her in long, straight folds; Maitland stilled their swaying with a touch, and stepped back into the room. For a moment he caught the eye of the fellow on the floor; and it was upturned to his, sardonically intelligent. But the lord of the manor had little time to debate

Abruptly the door was flung wide, quick to earry them out. In a trice and a short, stout man, clutching up she was offering him half a dozen of his trousers with a frantic hand, burst the heavy, twisted silk cords that had into the library, brandishing overhead been used to loop back the curtains.

Soft yet strong they were excellently "'Ands hup!" he cried, leveling at well adapted to Maitland's needs. Un- Maitland. And then, with a faller ceremoniously he swung his captive countenance: "G-r-r-reat 'eavins, sir!

> Higgins pulled up, thunderstruck, panting and perspiring with agitation. His fat cheeks quivered like the wattles of a gobbler, and his eyes bulged as by degrees, he became alive to the

Maitland began to explain, forestalling the embarrassments of cross-exam-

"By the merest accident, Higgins, I was passing in my car with a party of support entirely eliminated him as a friends. Just for a joke I thought I'd steal up to the house and see you were behaving yourselves. this light through the library win- possibility was intolerable, as much so tighten and strangle you. Under- dows." And Maitland, putting an in- as the suspense of ignorance. He cautious hand upon the bull's-eye on could not, would not, believe her ca-Anisty nodded, making an incoherent the desk, withdrew it instantly, with pable of ingratitude so rank; and sound with his swollen tongue. At an exclamation of annoyance and four fought fiercely, unreasonably, against scorched 'fingers.

> quickly, diverting attention from him- off with the booty. "My wor-r-rd!" said Higgins, with ness emotion. Then quickly, "Did 'e get Heart in mouth, he reached the gates, ants in the hallway-lackeys, grooms, tree, offering him a guiding hand. maids, cooks and what not; a back-ground of pale, scared faces to the tab-way." group with a dominant and inflexible almost passionately — "then forefinger. "Those who are wanted will didn't..."

"Yes, sir. Yes, sir. But wot an 'orric 'appenin', sir, if you'll permit me--" "I won't. Be quiet and listen. This the notorious jewel thief, wanted badly by the police of a dozen cities. You unstables; I may," he invented desper-"If he were anybody else," Maitland ately, "be delayed-may have to ge a detective from Brooklyn. If scoundrel stirs, don't touch him. Let him alone-he can't escape if you do Above all things, don't you dare to

'Most cert'inly, sir. I shall bear in "You'd best," grimly. "Now I'm off No; I don't want any attendance-I know my way. And-don't-touch-

"Very good, sir." Maitland stepped over to the safe glanced within, cursorlly, replaced a bundle of papers which he did not recall disturbing, closed the door and twirled the combination,

"Nothing gone," he announced. At fnarticulate gurgle from the prostrate man drew a black scowl from Mait land. Recovering, "Good morning, said politely to the butler, and striding out of the house by the front door was careful to slam that behind him ere darting into the shadows.

The moon was down, the sky a cold. opaque gray, overcast with a light drift of cloud. The park seemed very dark, very dreary; a searching breeze was sweeping inland from the sound, soughing sadly in the tree-tops; a chill humidity permeated the air, precursor "Ah, Higgins," his employer greeted or rain. The young man shivered, both with chill and reaction from the tension of the emergency just past.

He was aware of an instantaneous loss of heart, a subsidence of the elation which had upheld him throughout the adventure; and to escape this, to forget or overcome it, took immediately to his heels, scampering madly for the road, oppressed with fear lest he should find the girl gone-with the jewels.

That she should prove untrue, faithless, lacking even that honor which proverbially obtains in the society of chance-again-I happened to see criminals-a consideration of such a the conviction that she would have fol-"He's been at the safe," he added lowed her thievish instincts and made lifted up out of the night, and the hori meet and right upon him, for his madmythin', do you think, sir?"

Maitland shook his head, scowling her, and was struck dumb and witless A very creditable list of solvers is hown in PRIMROSE'S Mystic Argosy or the August solving tourney.

Already his hearing, quickened by the emergency, had apprised him of the rapidly augmenting concourse of service from the shadows of a low branching "Come," she said quietly.

leau in the library. "This won't do," Without being exactly conscious of considered Maitland. "Get back, all of what he was about he caught the hand you!" he ordered sternly, indicating the in both his own. "Then," he exulted

His voice choked in his throat. Her found aught worth saying; o commented, a trifle bitterly.

lieve me. I--" make or mar whether or not you trust-. . You have," she added ed me? quietly, "the jewels safe enough, I sup-

He stopped short, aghast. "I! The "I slipped them in your coat pocket Instantly her hand was free, Maitland ramming both his own into the side pockets of his top-coat. "They're She smiled uncertainly. "We have no time," said she. "Can you drive-? They were standing by the side of her car, which had been cunningly hid-den in the gloom beneath a spreading tree on the further side of the road Maitland, c.estfallen, offered his hand; the tips of her fingers touched his palm lightly as she jumped in. He hesitated at the step. "You wish me to?" She laughed lightly. "Most assuredly You may assure yourself that I shan't try to elude you again-" I would I might be sure of that," he said, steadying his voice and seeking "Procrastination won't make it any more assured. He stepped up and settled himself in the driver's seat, grasping throttle and steering-wheel; thrilled to his touch like a live thing. then began slowly to back out into the For an instant it seemed to hang paipitant on dead centre, then shot out like a hound unleashed, ventre-a-terre—Brooklyn miles away over queminjodesip una yors ,, not una the hood. It seemed but a minute are they were thundering over the Myannis bridge. A little further on Maitland slowed down and, jumping out, lighted the lamps. In the seat again-no words hind them, roaring. Thereafter, breathless, stunned by the frenzy of speed, perforce silent, they bored on through the night, crashing along deserted high-In the east a band of pallid light zon took shape against it, stark and black. Slowly, stealthily, the formless dawn dusk spread over the sleeping world: to the zenith the light-smitten stars reeled and died, and houses, fields and thoroughfares lay a-glimmer with long through the grins unlovely, silent hinterland of Long Island City. The gates of the ferry-house were ineverably shut against them when at last Maitland brought the big machine to a tremulous and panting halt, like that of an over-driven thoroughbred. And though they perforce endured a wait of fully fifteen minutes, neither momentarily upturned to his, words wherewith fitly to clothe their gleamed pale and weary in the dreary thoughts were denied them. The girl nght; the face of a tired child, troubled seemed very weary, and sat with h saddened; yet with eyes inexpressibly drooping and hands clasped idly he her sweet. She turned away, tugging at lap. To Maitland's hesitant query as to her comfort she returned a mono-"You doubted me, after all!" she syllabic reassurance. He did not again venture to disturb her; on his own part he was conscious of a clogging sonse of exhaustion, of a drawn and "Ah, don't protest. What does it haggard feeling about the eyes and temples, and knew that he was keeping awake through main power alone, his brain working automatically,

Author of the "Black Bag,"

"The Private War," Etc.

his being already adoze. The fresh wind off the sullen river served in some measure to revive them. once the gates were opened and the car had taken a place on the ferryboat's forward extreme. Day was how full upon the world; above the horizon belted with bright magenta, the cloudless sky was soft turquoise and sapphire, and abruptly, while the big unwieldy boat surged across the narrow ribbon of green water, the sun shot up with a shout and turned to an ovanescent dream of fairyland the gaunt rock-ribbed profile island, bulking above them in tier upon tier of monstrous buildings.

On the Manhattan side, in deference to the girl's low-spoken wish, Maitland ran the machine up to Second Avenue, turned north, and brought it to a stop by the curb, a little north of Thirtyfifth street.

"And now whither?" he inquired. somewhat impatiently upon the driving and steering gear. The girl smiled faintly through he veil. "You have been most kind," she told him in a tired voice, "Thank youfrom my heart, Mr. Anisty," and made a move as if to relieve him of his

"Is that all?" be demanded blankly "Can I say more?" anticipating her affirmative answer. "It you won't insist. . . ." -wise and dropped to the sidewalk-

(To Be Continued Monday.)

